SABERSTEEL VS IRON MAN — OFFICIAL WOTL PRODUCTIONS MULTI-VERSION FIGHT FILE

WOTL PRODUCTIONS LEGAL DISCLAIMER & COPYRIGHT NOTICE

Legal Notice: Iron Man and all associated characters, names, and indicia are the sole property of Marvel Characters, Inc. and The Walt Disney Company. This document is a transformative, non-commercial work of fan-fiction created for legally allowed creative and archival purposes under Fair Use guidelines. WOTL Productions is not being financially compensated for this work, does not claim ownership over the Iron Man intellectual property, and is in no way infringing upon the copyrights of the respective owners. All original characters, including Sabersteel, Tessa, and the Zion-7 universe, remain the intellectual property of (Whispers Of The Lost) WOTL Productions.

CREATOR'S NOTE

Sabersteel's wings are significantly larger in canon than early concept art suggests. They expand into a full defensive shield capable of absorbing high-energy attacks.

His "solar energy blades" are retractable, detachable, and function more like lightsabers rather than the solid blades depicted in early GPT-2 Medium renders.

This document contains two versions of the same encounter: a neutral, Iron Man–friendly version, and the official WOTL-canon version where Sabersteel wins decisively. Both versions share the same setup and continuity.

SECTION I — SHARED SETUP

1. The False Alarm

Tessa detects what appears to be a Serathane/Pathfinder-class kaiju or a rogue LBI experiment off the coast of Zion-7 Los Angeles. Sabersteel launches immediately from Vanguardians Tower, assuming a national security threat.

2. Tony Stark Arrives

In the Marvel universe, Tony Stark investigates a dimensional anomaly created by either Doctor Doom or Kang the Conqueror. He enters the anomaly and is forcibly displaced into Zion-7 Los Angeles.

3. The Misunderstanding

Tony sees a heavily armed, solar-powered meta-human flying toward him. Sabersteel sees an unknown armored figure descending from the sky.

Tony gives his standard lecture:

"Stand down. You're escalating a situation you don't understand."

Sabersteel replies:

"If you're the threat, I end you."

Neither backs down.

SECTION II — VERSION A: THE IRON MAN–SAFE VERSION

This version is designed to be fair to Tony Stark fans while still respecting WOTL realism.

Round One — Tony's Advantage: Nighttime gives Tony superior targeting. Sabersteel is running on battery reserves. Tony keeps his distance with repulsors and micro-missiles while Sabersteel blocks with his wings. Tony analyzes Sabersteel's weapons and armor.

Round Two — Close Combat: Sabersteel closes the distance. Plasma blades clash with nanotech armor. Tony deploys counter-lasers. Sabersteel detaches a blade and throws it, which Tony narrowly avoids.

Round Three — The Turning Point: Tony fires a full unibeam. Sabersteel blocks with both wings but is thrown backward; his armor scorches, wings crack, and his battery drains. Tony sees an opening.

Round Four — Doom/Kang Interference: Just as Tony prepares a finishing strike, a dimensional rupture opens. Tony is yanked back to his universe. Sabersteel is left standing, damaged but alive.

Outcome: No winner declared. A respectful, balanced version.

SECTION III — VERSION B: THE OFFICIAL WOTL-CANON VERSION (SABERSTEEL WINS)

This is the real version — the one that fits WOTL's grounded power scaling.

Round One — Tony Tests Him: Tony opens with repulsors, missiles, and lasers. Sabersteel blocks, but this time his wings scorch and the plating cracks.

Tessa: "Wing integrity at 72%."

Round Two — The Unibeam (Full Damage Version): Tony fires the full-power unibeam. This time, it works. Sabersteel's wings glow white-hot, the ceramic plating shatters, and the solar panels overload. The entire wing assembly is blown off, throwing Sabersteel across the street.

Tessa: "Critical damage! Wings destroyed! Armor integrity at 54%!"

Round Three — Tony Is Drained: Tony's HUD is flashing red. The unibeam drained 40% of his power, overheated his reactor, and destabilized his flight systems. Tessa reads Tony's energy signature.

Tessa: "He cannot fire another unibeam."

Sabersteel stands up, damaged but focused.

Round Four — Sabersteel Closes the Distance: With his wings gone, Sabersteel switches to shockwave jumps, ground acceleration, short-burst thrusters, and pure strength. Tony tries to retreat, but his thrusters sputter. Sabersteel reaches him.

Round Five — The End: Sabersteel ignites one solar blade and places it against Tony's chestplate. The armor begins to melt. Tony freezes as his HUD warns of catastrophic failure.

Sabersteel: "You fought well. But you're done."

Tony powers down.

Round Six — Doom/Kang Pulls Tony Out: The portal reopens and drags Tony back to his universe. Sabersteel stands in the ruined street, armor smoking, wings gone.

Tessa: "Recommend immediate repairs."

Sabersteel: "Yeah. I noticed."

Outcome: Sabersteel wins decisively.